PAULEY CLAIMS SOLE INTEREST IN HOLDINGS

Navy Appointee Says Venture With Hannegan Never Materialized

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Edwin W. Pauley said today that neither Postmaster General Hannegan nor any other government official shares in his extensive oil and other financial holdings.

President Truman's nominee for undersecretary of the navy told the senate naval committee, under questioning, that he once discussed a possible investment by Hannegan in a California oil venture but it never materialized.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) promised "new evidence" today in his fight to block Pauley's appointment as navy undersecretary.

Pauley supporters, however, saw new hope for their cause in the senate's confirmation of another Truman nominee—George E. Allen to be an RFC director.

The senate naval committee called Pauley back to the stand. But Tobey said the former Democratic national committee treasurer would have to wait a while before presenting what Pauley described as a lengthy "affirmative statement" discussing his controversy with Harold L. Ickes.

Given Two-Year Term
Allen, Pauley's former colleague on the party's national committee, won approval to a two-year term as reconstruction finance corp. director on a voice vote.

Pauley's supporters said they hoped the vote would encourage wavering party members to back the navy post nominee.

The mixed-up political situation in the senate was complicated further by Mr. Truman's delay in naming a successor to Ickes as secretary of the interior and by a Republican attack on another nominee, H. E. Vardaman, Jr., white house naval aide selected for a 14-year term on the Federal Reserve board.

Tobey hinted that part of the "new evidence" he said the naval committee will get on Pauley's nomination will come from a list of witnesses the committee agreed to summon.

These include W. A. Patterson, president of United Air Lines who, Pauley said, will testify about requests for political campaign contribution. The New Hampshire senator declined to elaborate.

Tobey also asked for a summons for George Killian, Democratic national committee treasurer, as well as Ralph K. Davies, wartime oil coordinator, Vic Rosetti of the Farmers and Merchants bank of Los Angeles, Harry March, vice president of the Signal Oil and Gas Co., H. V. Collier, president and T. S. Peterson, vice president, of the Standard Oil Co. of California.

Most of yesterday's hearing was concerned with what happened six years ago when Pauley was active in a California group which sought to prevent the death by referendum of a state oil conservation measure.

Food Story, 1946

The Department of Agriculture says that Americans will eat more food in 1946 than ever before, although some items will be "substantially" below demand. Newshart above shows how 1946 supplies of some food compare with 1945 and pre-war years.

POTATO GROWERS NAME DIRECTORS

Columbiana-Mahoning Association Holds Annual Meeting

One hundred and twenty-five potato growers from Columbiana and Mahoning counties gathered this morning in the social room of the Methodist church for the annual meeting of the Columbiana-Mahoning County Potato Growers' association.

The unit, which was organized in 1926, has held all of its annual meetings in Salem. Its objective is to discuss and solve the problems which arise in growing potatoes in the district and to give information on producing and marketing the crop.

J. C. Hedge of Canfield, Mahoning county agriculture agent, and Floyd Lower of Lisbon, Columbiana county agent, were in charge of the morning and afternoon sessions, respectively.

E. B. Tussing, Ohio State university; Paul Findlen, Washington, D. C., U. S. Department of Agriculture; J. P. Slesman, Ohio Experiment station, Wooster, and O. A. Brookhart, Columbus, of the Ohio Vegetable and Potato Growers' association, were the main speakers.

Six directors were elected from each county. Those from Columbiana include Samuel Tritton, A. W. Andrich, Frank Vincent, James Thompson, Dale Schoen and Ben Wengart.

From Mahoning are Elbert Agnew, George Stackhouse, Charles Beth, Carl Johnson, Clayton Walsh and Harry Culp. Officers will be chosen at a meeting of the directors at a later date.

George Stackhouse of North Lima is president. Other officers are: vice president, Charles Barth of Poland; secretary-treasurer, A. W. Andrich of Columbiana.

LIQUOR AGENTS MAKE SURVEY OF OHIO BARS

Permit Renewals Refused Where Law Violations Are Noted

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—A check-up to find out how many Ohio beer parlors, saloons, and night clubs meet the law on all points has resulted in refusal to renew permits for a few and delays in renewals for hundreds, it was disclosed today.

The check-up is in the form of a questionnaire which liquor inspectors must fill out to complete a file on a applications for renewals of retail sale permits, such as beer, liquor by the glass, and night club. Heretofore, renewals have been almost automatic assuming no protests were received or the holder stayed out of trouble with the law.

Must Serve Meals
H. T. Chapman, permit chief of the Department of Liquor Control, said "six or eight" renewals had been turned down in the past month because the permit-holder no longer served meals. Several cases in which the operator is not the true owner of the place have turned up, he said, plus one with bad sanitary conditions.

Many other renewal applications, he added, are being held up for "a reasonable time" to give the operator a chance to show that he plans and is able to meet the food-serving requirement. Merely having restaurant equipment ordered is not enough, he said, but if it is on hand and being installed the renewal is granted.

Frank W. Kleinfelder enforcement chief said the department received a half dozen or so complaints daily, many anonymous, about the operation of various liquor places, mainly on the food-serving angle.

Defined By Law
Ohio law defines a restaurant as a place "kept, used, maintained, advertised, or held out to the public where meals or lunches are served for a consideration, without sleeping accommodations."

In addition to requiring the inspector to report whether an applicant for renewal maintains a "bona fide restaurant," the questionnaire covers sanitation and ventilation of the premises and toilets, whether living quarters are connected with the premises, and whether any local authorities object to renewal.

If living quarters are connected with the premises, Chapman said, the holder must present an affidavit that the connecting door is kept locked.

Claim Russians Sought To Buy Uranium For $500,000

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.—The government's investigation into a leakage of highly secret information was linked today to its probe of Eldorado Gold Mines, Ltd., Canada's source of uranium, by a Montreal report that Russian agents had tried to buy $500,000 worth of "black market" uranium.

The Montreal Gazette published a report stating that "a Russian plot, the buying of more than $500,000 worth of virtually 'black market' uranium in Canada to bring about the successful culmination of its atomic bomb espionage conspiracy in Ottawa and other parts of the dominion, has been uncovered."

The Gazette story indicated that those allegedly buying the uranium failed to get it out of Canada.

One of the 22 governmental employees arrested Friday it was learned last night, held a rank "very close" to deputy minister, highest rank attainable by a civil servant in the dominion. None of the suspects, however, held that rank.

The Canadian press said information which touched off the inquiry was furnished the government by Ivor Gosenko, former chief telegrapher at the Soviet embassy in Ottawa, and that he and his wife were in protective custody of the government.

The full text of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's first official statement regarding the leakage of information was broadcast without comment by the Moscow radio last night.

See Speed-Up In Output Of Popular-Sized Tires

AKRON, Feb. 19.—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. officials looked for considerably speeded-up production on popular-sized tires today with installation of tire-building machines.

Cliff Slusser, vice president of the company in charge of production, disclosed yesterday that "robot" machines would replace hand-building methods to help break the civilian backlog of tires.

The machine performs automatically the "most difficult operations of the tire-building cycle" in a fraction of the time originally needed, he explained.

Chicago Cabbies Continue Their "Coxey's Army" Jaunt

(By Associated Press)
MAYFIELD, Feb. 19.—A modern "Coxey's army" of taxi cab drivers and their families headed for Washington today after an overnight stop in the home town of the man who headed a march from here to the capital in 1894.

The approximately 350 Chicago veterans, loaded in 148 cabs, will seek relief in Washington from a city ordinance limiting the number of them controlled by two companies.

The cavalcade assembled late in the morning and prepared to drive straight through to Washington without another stop for sleep, hoping to reach the capital late tonight.

Sleep On Y. M. Floor
The drivers reported they had rested well, although hotel space was found for only about 75. Many of the veterans slept on a Y.M.C.A. floor, using borrowed gymnasium mats.

Edgar Sirles, president of the American Cab Drivers Association For Discharged Veterans, said they would put their case before the Department of Justice on the grounds that control by the two companies constituted a monopoly.

"We are going to camp in Washington until we get satisfaction," the 26-year-old veteran asserted last night as the group pulled into town.

Sirles said they hoped to meet in Washington "Gen." Jacob S. Coxey, 91, who attracted attention when he led a group to the capital to bring grievances of the unemployed to congress' attention. He attempted to speak from the steps of the capitol, was arrested and charged with trespassing.

Coxey is in Washington again today attempting to gain attention for his proposals for non-interest bearing government bonds.

Sirles said he had been notified

Ellsworth Building Damaged By Fire

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the interior of a two-story brick restaurant-residence in Ellsworth at 5:25 p. m. yesterday as Canfield, Salem and Greenford fire departments fought to save the building.

Fire Chief Vincent Malloy of Salem said his department arrived second on the scene. He said the Canfield department had the blaze nearly extinguished when the Salem truck arrived. The interior of the structure, however, was badly gutted.

The fire was believed to have originated in the basement of the building and made its way upward to the attic.

The building is occupied by J. B. McJunkin and is owned by Warren Broadword of Ashtabula.

Church Thieves Forced Minister To Stand Up

Sheriff George Hayes is investigating the theft of $100 worth of furnishings from Trinity Reformed church, a rural edifice six miles west of Lisbon.

The theft reported Monday, occurred sometime last week when the thieves entered the church and took the horse-hair covered pulpit chairs. The loss was discovered when the church was opened for services Sunday. Luckily, the pulpit was left intact.

McKinley School PTA Hears Health Official

Twenty-five members of the McKinley school Parent-Teacher association met last evening at the school building, when Miss Lillian Schroeder, secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health League, spoke on "Proposed State Legislation for Tuberculosis and its effect on Columbiana County."

Emphasizing the need for educated voters, Miss Schroeder said that state tuberculosis aid could be more easily obtained if five new state sanatoriums and a full-time health officer were provided.

She also showed a motion picture, "The Case of Lucy X," describing sanatorium care of T. B. patients. A question period followed. Refreshments were served by a committee in charge of Mrs. John Bauman.

The next meeting will be held March 18 and will include a Scout demonstration, a hobby display and an auction of scarce articles.

SETTLEMENT OF PHILADELPHIA DISPUTE MADE

Operators In Nation Still Press Demands For Pay Raises

(By Associated Press)
A strike of long distance telephone operators in Philadelphia was settled today, removing the threat of an immediate nationwide sympathy telephone tieup, but the possibility of a countrywide walkout for higher wages still was in the cards.

U. S. Conciliator Peter J. Manno said at Philadelphia that the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and representatives of the Independent Federation of Long Lines Telephone Workers, had reached an agreement on the issue of promotions and that 1,000 striking operators would return to work.

At Memphis, Tenn., where representatives of the National Federation of Telephone Workers are in conference, John A. Moran, president of the Federation of Long Line Operators, had announced earlier he would call a nationwide sympathy work stoppage of long distance operators if the Philadelphia strike was not settled within 24 hours.

Joseph A. Beltracchi, federation president, said a majority of the 50 independent unions in his group, favored a strike of its claimed 250,000 members in support of wage demands. This issue was independent of the Philadelphia strike.

In the Philadelphia settlement, J. E. Dingman, supervisor of employee relations for A. T. & T., said the company had agreed to investigate the promotion of three employees who, the union said, were given better jobs without regard for seniority rights.

A union spokesman at Memphis said the question of a nationwide strike for higher wages, which would disrupt both long distance and some local service, probably would be taken today.

Company spokesmen said the dispute was "purely local." The three employees were asked by union spokesmen to have been promoted to better jobs without regard for seniority rights of 25 other eligible A. T. & T. employees.

The threatened strike call by the NFW follows demands by the union for wage increases of $10 a week, a minimum hourly wage of 65 cents and a return to the 40-hour week. The NFW also demands maintenance workers and manufacturing and research employees of the American Telephone and Telegraph system.

State To Referee Leetonia Dispute

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—Arbitration of a labor management dispute, the company calls it a strike and the union a lockout—will be attempted here today by the Ohio industrial commission and Gov. Frank J. Lausche.

The dispute, involving the 150 workers at Crescent Machine Co. of Leetonia, Columbiana county, has kept the plant shut down since Feb. 4.

At the request of Stanley Delinger, union counsel, the governor invited R. C. Dubrucq, vice president and general manager, and E. F. House, president of the Leetonia local of the United Construction Workers (A. F. of L.), to appear in his office.

Settlement will be attempted under a seldom used arbitration law of 1885.

Building Option

Everything is ready for UNO to settle down in its place in the New York-Connecticut country, except eviction of present tenants and erection of suitable buildings. These things will require time.

The tenants may be harder to handle than the buildings. Some of them are acting as though they thought the red coats might be coming. But assuming the natives and city farmers all can be disposed of, the buildings still will be a problem.

Plans and probable costs must be cleared with all interested parties. Building materials must be chosen. The grounds must be arranged. Scarce articles must be found. Labor relations will have to be solved.

Furthermore, since this is no temporary housing project but something intended to be the capital of the world, the thing must be done with an eye to its flawlessness and permanency. In the meantime, UNO will be housed temporarily in New York City.

Everything considered, it might be wise to wait at least 10 years before exercising the building option on the permanent site. By that time everybody would have a better idea about the requirements for a capital of the world. Some of the mistakes made at Geneva, Switzerland, where the preceding experiment was conducted in more haste than good faith could be averted.

The Value of Age in Politics

A sidelight of the Ickes-Pauley affair worth looking into is Mr. Ickes' age; he will be 72 next March 15. As he explains in his public statement, he had been staying on as secretary of the interior by presidential request.

At 72, a man in public life begins to have the privilege of saying what is on his mind. He is past the need for pussyfooting, though no one recalls that Mr. Ickes ever pussyfooted on anything. His political security no longer is something to be preserved, but something that has been enjoyed. If to political security has been added reasonable financial security, a man may speak freely.

His integrity, if any, can express itself. He can have opinions at variance with the party line, if he chooses. He can tell muscle-makers where to go and how to get there by the shortest route. All in all, he can do what he thinks is right, instead of doing what he thinks will be safe, which is the curse of elective government. Few officials can rise above their instinct to perpetuate themselves in office by doing nothing to offend anybody.

The current Saturday Evening Post reports that in Wisconsin, Governor Walter Goodland, who was 82 last December, has made a political sensation by acting his age; i. e., by saying what he thinks because at 82 he no longer is afraid of not being re-elected. President Truman would do well to pass over the tender sprouts and pack his administration with octogenarians if he wants to restore confidence in the wake of the Ickes explosion.

All Rumors Are Exaggerated

Because the chief executive of the United States is wiser in the ways of politics than he has seemed to be so far in the art of administration, there is hardly any room for doubt that Harry Truman understands the rumors of his retirement at the end of his predecessor's unfinished fourth term.

They would originate, under the circumstances, in the wishful thoughts of persons who have been thinking ahead to 1948 and do not relish the prospect of Mr. Truman at the head of the Democratic ticket. They would be most likely to originate in the imaginations of other politicians who had someone else in mind and thought it was not too early, in 1946, to begin talking about Mr. Truman's forthcoming retirement.

It is easily possible to think of many persons who would have a motive for wanting to get rid of Mr. Truman as soon as possible. Any potential presidential candidate, for instance, would be likely to think about it—and a candidate who thought he had a better chance than Mr. Truman's to get elected would be especially likely to have the idea. It is an extremely rough game, this presidential politics, and a lot of toes were trampled on in the squeeze play that gave Harry Truman the nod to succeed the ailing Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1944.

These things should be borne in mind to forestall any notion that Republicans might be suggesting that President Truman might be satisfied with one term. Of all groups in the United States that have reason to want him to think of two terms, Republicans head the list. They can think of nothing nicer that could happen to them than to have Mr. Truman at the top of the Democratic ticket in 1948.

More Work, More Production

Employers, employees, self-employed persons—every citizen of the United States—will try to understand the meaning of President Truman's latest pronouncement about inflation.

Inflation has become the most important fact and the most important possibility of the times. We are having it and are going to have more of it. The question is whether we shall be ruined, or only inconvenienced.

Mr. Truman has no very important evidence to offer on that point. Naturally, he hopes we shall be only inconvenienced, but he can make no guarantee to that effect. Certainly, the mere act of kicking Chester Bowles upstairs into the job of economic stabilizer, replacing him with Paul Porter, and announcing that the wage and price limits are to be raised cannot be taken as assurance of anything conclusive.

The Truman administration has no answer for inflation. The problem has been aggravated by the administration itself and by the Roosevelt administration. Both encouraged labor leaders to make a post-war talking point of pay comparable to that received during the war; i. e., of the pay level reached during the war boom.

There is no road back from where we are. Wage inflation and price inflation that follow strikes that result from disagreements over how much inflation there should be are unavoidable circumstances. Washington has no magic cures. There are no magic cures anywhere, except more work, more production and an ultimate easing of the tensions and dislocations robbing America of satisfaction in the victory it won over its enemies but has not yet won over itself.

Admission of Defeat?

An interesting and revealing item appears in a recent OPA mimeographed pamphlet called, OPA Consumer News. The item, titled Fact of the Week, states: "In 1919 industrial workers earned on the average of 47 cents an hour. Today the average is 99 cents an hour. Average prices in the stores are about the same as they were 26 years ago."

A natural first reaction might be that OPA thinks industrial workers are too demanding today. A second—obviously the one OPA is hoping for—might be that OPA had done a wonderful job in holding down store prices while wages were soaring and prosperity increasing.

But about then it might be recalled that 1919 was a year of postwar inflation, and that the store prices of 26 years ago were inflated prices. In fact, they are the same prices which OPA used to threaten us with if OPA controls were removed.

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, February 20

ALTHOUGH there is a definite promise of alluring openings for advancing the position, prestige, credit with increase of funds and assets through professional or business associations, yet there may be stubborn obstacles, delays and diverse impediments, possibly due to unsatisfactory conditions in home, health, or other frustrating circumstances.

It would be well to check up on these with logic and sound judgment before entering upon major agreements or obligations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year of alluring openings or propositions indicated to enhance the prestige, popularity, financial and credit growth. Much is to be accomplished by a keen analysis of underlying factors, especially since there are hints of stubborn obstacles, impediments and setbacks, perhaps through a negative condition of health, spirits or home considerations. Appraise these carefully for long-range stability and growth in happiness and prosperity.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Bone Ills in Older People

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

WHEN persons approach the middle age period it would appear that there are several disorders which may develop, affecting the bones and joints. Dr. Douglas D. Dickson and his co-workers of Rochester, Minnesota, have made a study of a number of patients with a condition called Paget's disease of the bones or osteitis deformans.

The disease develops most often in those past 60 years of age. Only one case, among those studied, by those workers, occurred in a person less than 30. It would appear that there was a tendency for the disease to run in families. Sixteen of the patients had 21 relatives with the same disorder.

No Complaint

In one-fifth of the patients there was no complaint or disturbance prior to the time the diagnosis was made, the disease being discovered accidentally during the course of X-ray examinations.

In Paget's disease, there is a thickening of the bones. It most often affects the pelvis or hip bones, but also affects the skull and shin bones in many instances. It has been found that in these patients there is an increase in the blood of a substance known as phosphatase which has to do with the use of phosphorus by the body.

Break or Fracture

Break of the bones, or fracture, is a common complication of this disease. However, these fractures seem to heal rapidly. In many cases, there is also a porosity or thinning out of the bone in the skull. Sometimes this condition is the only X-ray evidence of the disease in the skull.

Although a great deal of study has been carried out, the exact cause of Paget's disease has not been determined, nor has there been found any treatment which will check its progress. Large doses of vitamin D have been employed, with reported benefit in a number of instances.

In a number of patients a condition known as osteoporosis circumspecta was found in the skull. In almost all of these patients there was evidence of Paget's disease in other parts of the skeleton. For this reason, Dr. Dickson and his co-workers believe that osteoporosis circumspecta is an early sign of Paget's disease.

It would appear that a great deal further study of Paget's disease is needed to determine, if possible, what produces it so that methods for its prevention may be developed. But at least some progress is being made.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

O. M.: Would coffee cause a person to have gas?

Answer: The use of coffee would not cause gas unless perhaps it were in excessive amounts.

B. C.: I have been bothered with a constant flickering sound about the heart. It feels as if my heart is jumping. Would a run-down condition cause this?

Answer: It is possible that you have what is known as palpitation of the heart, or a rapid heart beat. This is due to nervousness in most instances. The fact that your general physical condition is not up to par might be a contributing cause.

Soil Fertility Affects Crops' Chemical Makeup

COLUMBUS—Farm Bureau Co-operative association spokesmen reported recently that soil fertility has been found to have "considerable" effect on the chemical composition of crops.

Tests were cited of corn grown on poor soils with 9.9 per cent protein. This was raised to 12.3 per cent by use of nitrogen fertilizer. The finding was not true, however, on soils deficient in potash or phosphorus. In this class, fertilizer would increase the yield but not the chemical content.

Environmental factors such as soil fertility or weather were found to affect corn more than inheritance factors.

Boyle's COLUMN

BY HAL BOYLE

NEW DELHI—India, which lost more lives by famine in World War II than Britain and America lost in battle, is heading for a new political crisis on an empty belly.

The specter of hunger is crystallizing discontent over Britain's century and half rule among India's masses—one-fifth world's population crowded into one-sixteenth the world's living space.

Indian politicians have been quick to seize upon the prospect of widespread starvation in south India, where millions in the depressed classes live only a borderline existence even in "normal" times, as a tool to try to force new government concessions in their campaign for independence.

And fear is growing that mass hysteria, engendered among the poorer classes who remember only too bitterly the dread famine of 1943, may lead to food riots throughout the entire country, even in sections such as the capital at New Delhi where the only impact of the shortages probably will be expressed in rationing.

Two of the greatest leaders in the Indian national congress have issued fresh criticisms of British dominance during the present food crisis.

Mohandas K. Gandhi proposed creation of a new representative Indian government to tackle the problem of famine. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, calling upon the peasantry to "rebel against political and social conditions," threatened that "if people die of hunger their deaths will be avenged."

Nehru, who is less wedded to the theory of "nonviolent resistance" than Gandhi, blamed much of the misery of the last famine in Bengal on black market profiteers. He told his followers during a recent speech at Oudh that if famine comes again:

"We wouldn't submit to some people feasting and racing and flaunting their luxury while the mass of the people suffered the agony of starvation. We wouldn't submit to incompetence and corruption of highly placed officers and selfishness of profiteers and black marketeers."

"If the heavy burden has to be borne owing to circumstances beyond our control, it will have to be shared equally by all, and the government responsible for mismanagement or worse will have to go."

Lord Wavell, the viceroy, is reported planning to "curb this week on the food situation with Gandhi, whose cooperation he has requested. If so, he will have to undertake a precedent-making journey to the Mahatma's quarters at Wardha, as Gandhi rejected an offer to meet the viceroy here because of ill health although the British put a plane at his disposal.

Capital sources here say no British viceroy before has been known to make a personal visit to the residence of a non-official Indian figure to confer on state problems.

Nehru places famine toll of 1943 at 3,500,000. A British engineer who travelled extensively through this famine area put the figure more conservatively at a million dead.

"There is nothing more dreadful than to see an entire people in starvation," he told me. "In 1943 I saw Pariah dogs chewing away at the limbs of dead children on the pavements of Calcutta, the second largest city in the British empire."

If such scenes recur this year, Indian leaders believe, they will have more political effect. India, some feel, may ride to its long desired freedom on the back of one of the "Four Horsemen"—famine.

Peak In Auto Production Is Expected Late In May

(By Associated Press)

DETROIT, Feb. 19.—Settlement of the steel strike will not be reflected on the nation's automobile assembly lines for at least another month.

If the end of the steel tie-up is followed this week by a settlement of the General Motors strike the car industry may be able to reach a volume output level about the latter part of May.

Volume output would mean the assembling of around 100,000 units a week.

Hardest hit directly by the steel strike was the Ford Motor Co. It had reached a production level of better than 3,000 units a day late last month when it was forced to start closing down its assembly lines. Assemblies have been halted in the company's Rouge plant in nearby Dearborn and in a dozen branch assembly plants throughout the nation for 10 days or more.

Ford hopes to resume car assemblies around March 15, probably at the rate of 500 units a day; it may be April 1 before it gets back to the 3,000 a day level.

Chrysler along with its Plymouth, Dodge and DeSoto divisions, Hudson, Nash, Studebaker and Willys-Overland have been able to continue assemblies despite the steel strike, although shortages directly traceable to that tie-up have held down their production volume.

Packard which has been closed down since Jan. 24, due to a shortage of bearings supplied by a General Motors subsidiary, may not be able to reopen its assembly lines for from three to four weeks after the GM strike is ended. The Packard

Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Stanley entertained at a chicken dinner Wednesday, honoring their daughter, Susan, in observance of her sixth birthday anniversary.

Women's Club Meets

Members of the Farm Women's club will be entertained by Mrs. Ray Gost Thursday at an all-day meeting. Robes for the Veterans' Hospital will be made.

The Fidelis Sunday school class of the Friends church will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Talbott Wednesday evening.

Members of the Friendship circle shut-down made approximately 8,500 workers idle.

General Motors various car divisions probably will need from a month to six weeks to get into volume production after the strike among its 175,000 production workers is ended.

To date the car industry has assembled fewer than 200,000 of its 1946 models. Authoritative estimates place the potential output for the calendar year at approximately 2,500,000 passenger units, assuming there are no further labor disputes among the car makers or their suppliers.

The backlog of demand has been estimated at upward of 12,000,000 vehicles.

Does The Atom Bomb Explain Bible Miracles?

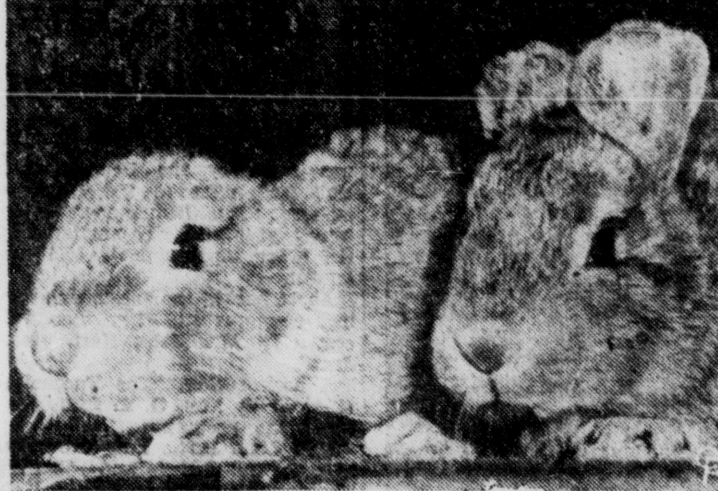

According to Edwin J. Dingle, world-renowned geographer, honored by leading geographical societies, the power of the atom as disclosed in the atom bomb, is small compared with little known and seldom used powers of the human brain. He maintains that man, instead of being limited by an average man power mind, has within him the mind power of a thousand men or more, as well as the energy power of the universe, which can be used in his daily affairs.

According to him, this sleeping giant of mind-power, when awakened, can make man capable of surprising accomplishments. It is as amazing as the atom bomb is compared with former sources of energy. Many thousands of people throughout the world have already tried his methods. Many report improvement in power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success. Others report improvement in health, increased strength, courage, poise or energy, or a more magnetic personality.

He tells how he found these strange methods in far off and mysterious Tibet, often called the land of miracles by the few travelers permitted to visit it. Here, he discloses, he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats. These immense powers, he maintains, are latent in all of us, and methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

As part of a great movement to make his methods available to more people, a 6000-word treatise is offered absolutely free for the time being. It reveals many startling results. Readers of this announcement can get their free copy by sending a post card or letter to the Institute of Mentalphysics, 213 S. Jobart Blvd. Dept. W-397, Los Angeles 4, Calif. Readers are urged to write promptly, because this offer may be withdrawn at any time.

Industrial Uses For Atom Few, Senate Board Learns

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Testimony that atom splitting will find few industrial uses was offered before the special senate atomic energy committee today by John C. Parker, vice-president of Consolidated Edison company.

Parker said the two most likely fields are large power plants and marine propulsion. He said it does not seem likely that the use of A-energy will produce far-reaching changes or more than limited economics in power production.

"Gas IS THE MOST ACCURATELY CONTROLLABLE SOURCE OF HEAT"

THE HOUSEWIFE SAYS:

"IT IS EQUALLY TRUE OF MY MODERN Gas RANGE"

In tens of thousands of plants and commercial establishments, Gas is used for many jobs calling for the most precise control of heat because engineers know that this modern fuel can be most closely modulated to the temperature required, whether to anneal X-ray tubes or melt armor plate. For instance, a manufacturer of precision glass for optical use consumes over 800,000,000 cubic feet of Gas yearly.

In the home, the housewife finds the Gas range the most accurately controllable source of heat for preparing meals. This gives her greater freedom in this important job and helps her guarantee the best results. Dietitians and housewives tell us closest fidelity to recipes is secured with a modern Gas range.

The precise temperature control of the modern Gas range provides greater economy too. It enables you to enjoy the distinct advantages of modern, low temperature oven cooking. This cuts meat shrinkage to an absolute minimum yet retains the natural flavor, juices and health values. And all while doing an average family's cooking for less than one dollar a month.

Be sure your new range is Gas and you will enjoy years of the finest, most effortless cooking. See your Gas Appliance Dealer or inquire at your Gas Company for latest information.

An embankment of ferns and gladioli lighted by white tapers made an attractive setting for the ceremony.

Preceding the service the bride's mother played "O Promise Me," after which her brother, Aviation Radioman Robert Meiser of the U. S. Navy, Quonset Point, R. I., played a trumpet solo.

LIMITATIONS ROB A-BOMB OF POWER

Naval Ordnance Expert Explains Theories of Power Loss

(By Associated Press)
BERKELEY, Calif., Feb. 19.—The atom bomb has natural limitations which probably will prevent it from becoming hundreds or thousands of times as destructive as it is now, says Dr. Leonard Loeb, physicist and naval research expert.

One of these limitations lies within the physical structure of the bomb itself and the other is a principle characteristic of all explosives, Loeb stated in a report in the U. S. naval ordnance laboratory bulletin.

The first is due to the fact that the bomb quickly generates extreme heat in the course of the explosion of its individual atoms. But not all the atoms break up simultaneously. The initial atom explosions heat up the unexploded ones.

The heat causes a slight expansion of the unexploded mass of the bomb, increasing the space between the remaining atoms. Conceivably this slight separation could cause some of the undamaged atoms to get beyond the reach of flying neutrons which otherwise would hit them and cause them to break up in time to contribute their energy to the main blast.

Dr. Loeb said the official report on the atom bombs indicated that there is "a close race between the rate of fission and the rate of temperature rise resulting in a disintegration of the bomb before all the nuclear energy is released."

"In how far this race will limit the size or explosive efficiency of future bombs one cannot say," Dr. Loeb added, "except that it may place a definite limit to the bombs."

The other limitation concerns the well-established physical law that the area of destruction does not increase in direct proportion to the power of the explosion.

Veronica Lake's Tresses Start Stork Club Battle

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—Film Actress Veronica Lake's golden hair precipitated a fist fight at the Stork club Saturday night, her husband, Andre De Toth, said today.

De Toth, a movie director, when asked about reports of the encounter, said it happened this way: He and Miss Lake were preparing to leave the club. As they walked through the bar a man at a table stood up and reached out for the actress' hair.

"I guess I lost my temper. But I let swing. Maybe once, maybe twice. I think I hit him in the face but I don't remember him going down. After the confusion died out, Miss Lake and I left. I don't know what the man's name was. I wish it hadn't happened at all."

"We can't possibly release Kuhn as long as there are occupation forces in Germany, for he might gather together his henchmen and threaten our security."

The spokesman said Kuhn's possible affiliations with the Nazi party were being investigated.

McKinley, Lehman, Warren And Rayen Given Seeded Rating; Salem High Slips Into Easiest Bracket In Class A Tournament

Unbeaten Canton Township Unmentioned In Seedings; Meets McKinley First Try

Canton McKinley, Canton Lehman, Youngstown Rayen and Warren were the seeded teams in the Northeastern Ohio District basketball tournament drawings at South High school, Youngstown, last night.

Tournament Director Dave Williams conducted the drawings and with a final assist from the 27 High school coaches present, made the official seedings, which automatically assure each of the four chosen entries that it will not meet another seeded club until the district finals on March 9.

The tournament is scheduled to open Feb. 25-26 and will continue through March 2-4-5-7-8 and 9th at the South Field house.

Elimination of one of the tournament's two teams as far as records go, was assured for the first night of play when Canton McKinley drew Canton Township for the 9 p. m. battle next Monday.

McKinley has won 10 and lost three while Township, coached by Red Ash, has won 14 straight this year without losing.

Seeded Warren dropped into a slot beside dangerous Boardman in the second bracket. Canton Lehman is hooked up with lowly Brookfield in a preliminary tourney game on the third bracket.

Seeded Youngstown Rayen, in the same bracket with Salem, was paired with Girard for the second game in the fourth bracket on March 2.

In the bracket with McKinley are Canton Lincoln, Minerva, Youngstown Ursuline, Canton Timken, Canton Township and Hubbard.

In Warren's bracket, besides Boardman, are Struthers, Sebring, East Palestine, Alliance and Youngstown Chaney.

Canton Lehman's bracket field includes Brookfield, Youngstown South, Newton Falls and Youngstown Wilson.

South, Hubbard, Newton Falls, Youngstown Wilson and Struthers drew byes in the first round of play. One of the oddities of the drawings was the fact that of the seven teams placed in the top bracket with McKinley, five are from Stark county.

McKinley, Lincoln, Timken and Township are the Stark schools with Hubbard and Ursuline rounding out the group.

Tourney Manager Williams announced that by a vote of the coaches, Joe Check, John Rues, Andrew Lindsay and Paul Avery, all of Youngstown, were selected officials for the games. "The quartet will alternate combinations and games throughout the play. Check, Lindsay and Rues are repeaters from last year's district affair.

WOLVERINES TRIP PANTHER FLIPPERS IN TWO OVERTIMES

Buckeyes, Lipperts Win. Remain As Threat To League Leaders

These standings include the game forfeited to Lipperts by the Buckeyes last week when the Bucks were guilty of using an ineligible player in defeating Lipperts.

The Columbiana Buckeyes remained a definite title aspirant in the Class B city loop last night at the Memorial building with a convincing 37-28 triumph over the Rams.

For two periods, the Rams played on even terms with the visitors but in the third period they faded and the Bucks romped into a comfortable lead.

Droffek sparked the winners with 15 points while Don Whitacre and Howard Herrington collected seven each for the losers.

The win gave the Buckeyes a 4-1 record for the round and left them one game behind the pace-setting Cavaliers who are unbeaten in five engagements.

The Panthers and the Wolverines put on the most thrilling game of the season, going two overtime sessions before the Wolverines won out, 41-39.

At the end of the regulation game, the count stood at 33-33. Each time got six markers in the three minute overtime period and the Wolverines made good on two foul shots in the "sudden death" to score their first win of the round.

Harp and Oana were top performers with 12 and 10 points respectively while Junior Parlow netted 12 for the Panthers.

The Corner and Lipperts went one overtime period with Lipperts scoring a 30-28 win on Al Zocolo's layup shot with 30 seconds left.

Lipperts jumped into a big lead in the first quarter and watched it slashed until the Corner finally went ahead early in the third period. The two teams played on even terms throughout the finale and the regular game ended with the score knotted at 27-27.

Zocolo and "Sarge" Ware led their respective teams with eight points each.

In the last game on the card, the Columbiana Redhots handed the Nazarenes a 30-17 licking as Duff and Clawges showed the way.

Final Week Of Play Points To Sure Change In State 'A' Championship This Season

By HAROLD HARRISON
A. P. Ohio Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—Ohio's Class "A" High school basketball teams are heading into the final full week of their regular season, and even before sectional and district tournament play begins all signs point to the crowning of a new state champion.

Bellevue's Redmen, who copped the crown last year, aren't even in the seeded list for their district meet which opens at Sandusky March 1. With a record of only seven victories in 15 games, Bellevue will meet Port Clinton in its opening tournament engagement and faces a rugged task even to get by that first contest. Port Clinton has won 10 of 16 games.

The most potent record in that tournament is held by Norwalk, which has won 15 games without a defeat. Norwalk faced Crestline last week, 75 to 26.

The other undefeated Class "A" teams still are Middletown, Hamilton Catholic, Chillicothe, Canton Township and the non-tournament playing Cleveland Benedictine. Middletown ran its string of consecutive regularly scheduled victories to 45 with an impressive 52 to 25 decision over Springfield, a team that gave the Middies considerable trouble in an earlier game.

Hamilton Catholic drubbed Franklin, 43 to 25, and Oxford McGuffey, 58 to 26. Franklin's licking was only the third setback of the season for that quiet and all have been administered by unbeaten teams—Hamilton Catholic, Middletown and Northridge.

The week also was marked by several games in the elite class. Toledo Central Catholic gave Toledo Macomber its first defeat in Toledo City league competition, 51 to 38. Dover handed the Central Ohio league lead to Newark by licking the fast skidding Marietta team, 48 to 36. Wellsview surprised Toledo, 38 to 31, and Akron Buchtel blasted Akron South's hopes for an undisputed Akron city championship with a 36 to 29 triumph.

Will Ask Assembly To Up Fishing Fees

COLUMBUS, Feb. 19.—The Ohio legislature will be asked to boost the $1 fee for fishing licenses to provide more funds for sportsmen's groups which use the revenue for conservation purposes, the League of Ohio Sportsmen reports.

The league, closing a two-day session here, adopted a resolution to ask the general assembly to raise the $1 fee from 10 to 25 cents. The group also proposed that the State Conservation division open the pheasant and rabbit hunting season at noon on the Friday nearest Nov. 15. Hunters thus would have an extra day and a half if Nov. 15 fell on Sunday. The league also took the position rabbit season should close Jan. 1, instead of Jan. 14 as at present.

The group elected Hovey Wick, Jackson president to succeed Ray Miller of Zanesville. Larry Woodell of Kent, former conservation commissioner, and Fred Bader of Cincinnati, were named vice presidents, and Sam Weirich of Lancaster, treasurer.

Scarlet Fever Topped Illnesses In January

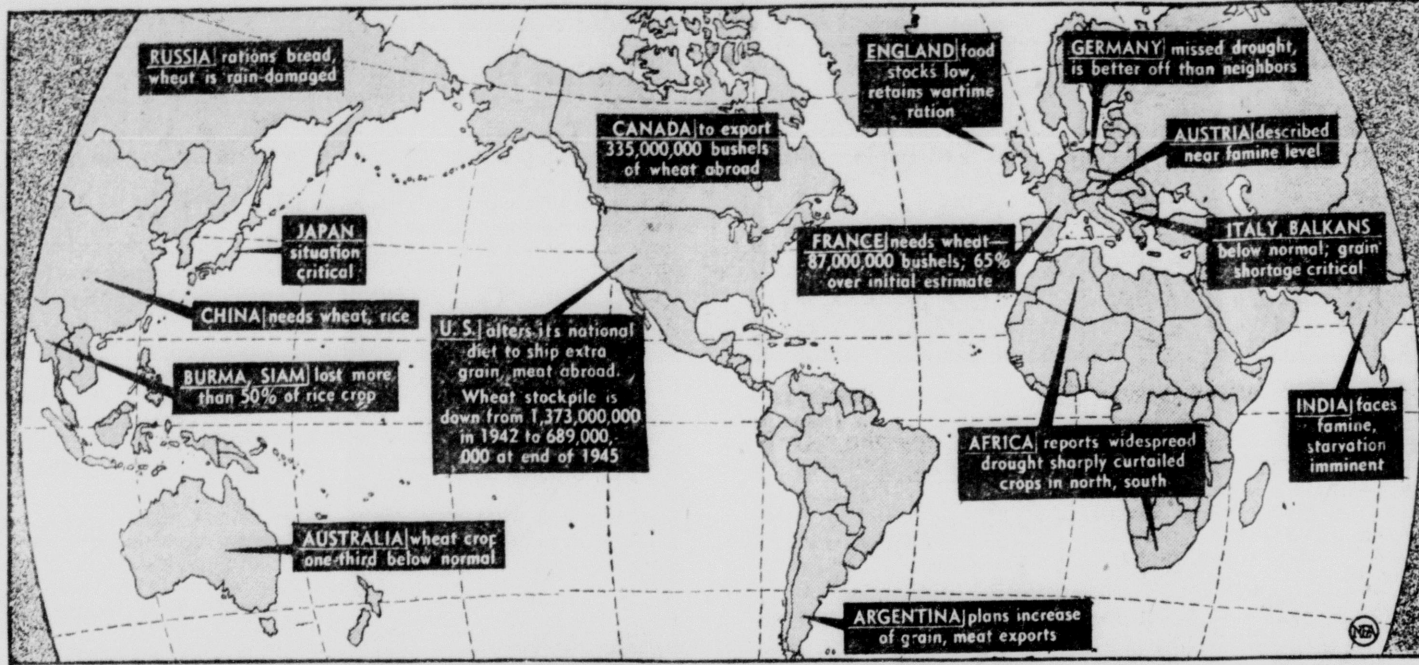

Scarlet fever led the communicable diseases reported to the Columbiana county health department in January, according to Dr. Seward Harris, health commissioner, who listed 17 cases for the month. The monthly report also shows 11 cases of venereal disease, five new cases of tuberculosis, and five cases of influenza reported.

Deaths outnumbered 31 to 13 in the county health area during January, but the figure does not give a true picture as the greater number of births now occur in hospitals and are not recorded in the county health district.

Why Americans Should Eat Dark Bread—And Like It

Map above shows some of the principal areas of the world facing food shortages so critical as to make starvation inevitable in many places. In Europe alone, 100,000,000 persons live on diets below the 1500-calory danger point. Uncounted millions of Asiatics will be on substandard diets this year. Through its grain conservation program, the U. S. hopes to have 35,000,000 more bushels of wheat for export. The next six months is the critical period of the world fight against starvation. If the threat of world famine still exists then, we may go back to food rationing.

Music Makers Await Final Score In Petrillo Battle

By WILLIAM J. CONWAY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHICAGO, Feb. 19—Music makers across the country are bending their sensitive ears toward Washington.

Headed for action in the house there is a bill which its author, Rep. Lea (D-Calif.), says is aimed at curbing the powers of James Caesar Petrillo, boss of the American Federation of Musicians (AFM).

Petrillo stepped up stairs to become head of the Chicago Federation of Musicians in 1923. Pay soon ascended, too. The weekly wages of men playing for musical shows, for instance, were hiked from $22 to $99. He also took steps to consolidate the positions of union orchestras in hotels and elsewhere. When he moved up to the presidency of the AFM in 1940, he led his organization against the competition of "canned music" on the radio and in juke boxes.

Petrillo's Philosophy

His fundamental philosophy, as he once phrased it, was this: "My boys gotta eat."

In implementing that policy, to one degree or another, he occasioned considerable controversy.

On Aug. 1, 1942, Petrillo forbade the 138,000 AFM members to make records or electrical transcriptions. The purpose, he proclaimed, was to provide more work for "live musicians." He contended:

"The $3,000,000 which a small number of musicians earn annually in making records cost our members $100,000,000 a year in wages."

Petrillo ignored a War Labor board order to end the proscription on grounds that "we're not a war industry." He rejected an appeal from President Roosevelt on grounds that lifting the ban would take business away from the firms which already had agreed to the union's terms.

The dispute ended in November, 1944, when the last few transcription companies accepted contracts providing that fees ranging from a quarter of a cent to two cents per record be paid into the AFM treasury.

Finally Reached Congress

Bugles of battle still sounded, however, on another front. In the summer of 1942 concerts by teenage music students at the national music camp at Interlochen, Mich., had been removed from the radio. The issue ultimately reached congress. Early in 1945, the senate approved legislation designed to prevent interference with non-commercial cultural or educational broadcasts by schools.

Less than a week thereafter, the camp was placed on the AFM "unfair list." The union standing of the camp's 30 faculty members was jeopardized. Last month Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and director of the camp, was summoned to Chicago to answer a complaint that he was "teaching music at Interlochen and thereby engaging in acts detrimental to the union." He was expelled from the union by the AFM executive board.

In October last year Petrillo demanded that the National Broadcasting Co., the Columbia Broadcasting System and the Mutual Broadcasting System, all of which have frequency modulation as well as standard radio stations, use a double set of musicians when radio programs are duplicated over standard and FM stations.

Late in December the AFM requested radio stations in the United States to ban broadcasts of musical programs originating in all foreign countries, except Canada. The motive, Petrillo explained, was to "protect American musicians against foreign competition."

Legislation Introduced

Soon thereafter, Rep. Lea drafted his measure. He asserted the bill grew out of demands by Petrillo which "a self-respecting government cannot afford to permit." The house interstate commerce committee endorsed the proposal, 14 to 5, on Jan. 23.

The legislation would prohibit the musicians union from: (a) compelling a radio station to "pay tribute" for the privilege of producing or using records; (b) forcing a station to employ more workers than it wants; (c) coercing a broadcaster to refrain from broadcasting non-commercial educational or cultural programs by amateurs; (d) restraining a station from relaying any program originating outside the U. S.

It prescribes a maximum penalty of one year in prison and a $1,000 fine.

With all that's involved, the people who make their living with horns, fiddles and drums will be listening in on congress. They'll want to hear the final score.

HOME NEAR LISBON LEVELLED BY FIRE

LISBON, Feb. 19—An eight-room farm home of William Kimberling, four miles west of Lisbon, was destroyed by fire early Monday morning.

The loss of the recently modernized frame dwelling and its contents including all furnishings and clothing of the family, was estimated at $8,000 and is only partially covered by insurance.

Kimberling, who is employed at the power plant in Toronto, was absent at the time of the fire and his wife, two daughters and the hired man were forced to flee in their night-clothing as the flames had made such headway when discovered, that it was impossible to save anything.
